This Shabbat will be the first of the month of Shevat, in which we celebrate Tu B'Shevat. To correlate with Tu B'Shevat, the theme of the Synaplex Shabbat will be ways to lessen your impact on the environment and things you can do in your everyday life to be less wasteful and conserve.

At 11:00AM Rabbi Shai Finkelstein will introduce environmental issues from a Torah point of view. He will be followed by Anne Reef, who will speak & share ideas about taking small steps around the home and little lifestyle practices in hopes that they will help us all make a positive difference.

Following the presentation, we will have the first environmentally friendly Kiddush at Baron Hirsch that will use only recyclable materials.

All are welcome to attend!
